Report on B.Voc (Small Tea Garden Management) Internship Program

Date: March 18, 2019- April, 10, 2019

On March 18, 2019, a transformative internship program for B.Voc (Small Tea Garden Management) students unfolded in Kuhipat, Gohpur, Biswanath Chariali, Assam. With an encouraging participation of 14 students, the initiative aimed to provide hands-on experience in the practical aspects of managing small tea gardens for three weeks. The program commenced with a warm welcome by local tea garden authorities, who graciously hosted the students. The interns were introduced to the nuances of small tea garden operations, gaining insights into cultivation practices, harvesting techniques, and the intricacies of tea processing. The immersive experience allowed them to observe and participate in daily activities, from plucking the tea leaves to understanding the machinery involved in processing. Throughout the internship, industry experts and seasoned practitioners engaged the students in interactive sessions, sharing valuable insights into the challenges and opportunities within the small tea garden sector. The participants were encouraged to ask questions and actively participate in discussions, enhancing their understanding of the practical aspects of tea cultivation and management. The internship program in Kuhipat not only provided a platform for skill development but also fostered a deep appreciation for the socio-economic impact of small tea gardens in the region. Students gained firsthand knowledge of the local tea industry's importance and its role in the community's livelihood. The event concluded with a debriefing session, during which participants reflected on their experiences and shared key takeaways. The internship program proved to be a meaningful endeavor, bridging the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical application for the B.Voc students. Their exposure to real-world scenarios in small tea garden management not only enriched their academic journey but also contributed to the development of a skilled workforce in the local tea industry. The success of this initiative highlights the value of experiential learning in preparing students for the complexities of their chosen fields.
